THE PURPOSE OF THE PROJECT

Youth unemployment (Youth not in employment, education or training = NEET) rates are generally much higher, even double or more than double, than unemployment rates for all ages. In 2015 youth unemployment rate in Europe reached 16,3 percent. Young people under 25 are facing a lot of difficulties to find a job, especially these ones who doesn't have any diplomas.

Since five years, an environmental education organization 3PA (Penser=Think, Parler=Talk, Partager=Share, Agir=Act) is developing a project named "European school of the ecological transition" which aim is to discover the possibilities of the sustainable development, green economy, the energy transition and green jobs which are taking in mind a big social aspect and integration.

Today, we would like to for the second time add an inter-cultural dimension in our project with sharing our knowledge with others.

OBJECTIVES

- to make young people not only in Europe more aware about green jobs and their possibilities to find a work in this field or similar one
- to extend knowledge of young people in the field of ecology, eco-citizenship and green economy
- to allow young people to be also actors and not only consumers
- to allow young people to live new experience in the foreign country and to support the idea of youth mobility as a learning possibility
- to help young people ask questions about their own identities, ideas, culture and the identity of the environment where they are living
- to work and share experience with open-mind and without prejudices and stereotypes
- to provide local, international organizations and NGOs with new tools to conceive and implement actions and projects of youth employment in the sustainable development
