

“SEE A Game”

International Training Course
Yerevan | Armenia

| December 11-19, 2015 |

General Idea:

„More than 23 million people are unemployed in Europe today. Unless we can improve our growth rates, unemployment will remain high. We need to keep people in work and create new jobs, including in the "green economy".

(Statement of the members of the European council, 30. January, 2012)

The training course "SEE A Game" will be dedicated to the new methods of entrepreneurship among young people living in different countries of Central and Eastern Europe. The main goal of this project is to teach youth workers, leaders, trainers from different countries innovative new non-formal, game-based learning activities which help to develop entrepreneurial attitudes. The goal will be reached via two games: namely MENU, a competitive role-playing game and FAIR, a collaborative card game. The different scenarios proposed in the games allow the assessment and ability to increase the entrepreneurship competencies and attitudes of participants, driven by game challenges. The need to train young entrepreneurs capable of competing in the European and international markets, and able to grasp the opportunities offered beyond the border of their own countries is evident, and investing in their training means investing in the future of our economy and society.

One of the most efficient methodologies for this purpose is the use of exercises based on the simulation that stimulate participants to carry out concrete actions and make real decisions. This is why „SEE A Game“ work with game-based learning to foster motivation and increase learning effectiveness. „SEE A Game“ is an outcome of a Grundtvig multilateral Project.

- Organizational competence (information, searching, planning)
- Self-reflection
- Decision making

- Creativity

MENU is a competitive game designed for promoting the development of entrepreneurial attitudes and competencies. However, the game is designed not to allow uncontrolled flaming up and strikes a balance between in-game competition and keeping a socially collaborative learning environment. Each team consists of 2-4 players and in game can take part up to 5 teams. It includes different challenges, that can be played over multiple sessions, and it also allows teachers to create their own challenges and also to mix together with another non formal learning methods. In addition, it also develops creativity, presentation and time management skills as in the beginning each team needs to develop a team name and logo, which need to be presented.

FAIR is a collaborative game designed for promoting the development of entrepreneurial attitudes and competencies. Collaborative game means that collaboration is the main driver in the game. However, for the game to remain intriguing, some competition will develop within teams, still maintaining a socially collaborative learning environment. FAIR is designed for sessions with 6 to 24 players. In this game each player represents a catering company and there are used the card decks. Each player's cards represent the company's assets, and its goals are stated on the goal card included in the deck. The goal of the game for each player is making an offer to the country fair organizers, getting the contract and achieving her/his individual goals.
